

Hillside Cemetery located on the Klocks Corners Road approximately 1/4 mile south of the four corners know as Scriba Corners. This cemetery was established in 1812 and has been in operation ever since. The cemetery was governed by an association until interest and money began to wane. The Town of Scriba took over its operation about 1985.

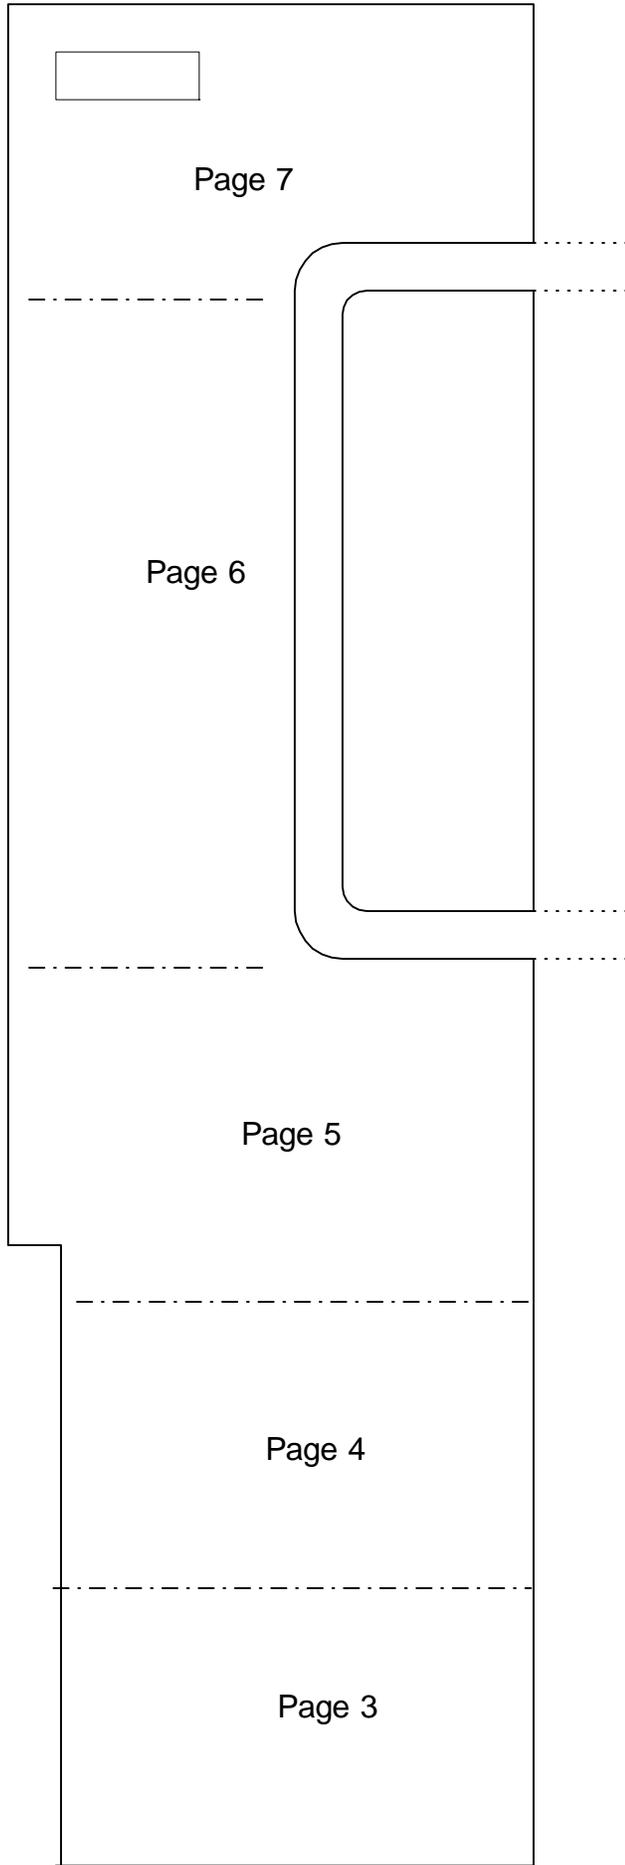

Some of oldest interments are ones that were originally located in the "Burt burying grounds", located north of Scriba Corners. It was the first cemetery in town and the first burial was the son of Hiram Warner in 1806.

The following pages are a general layout of gravesites. Attempts were made to show these as accurately as possible, but errors do happen and these will corrected as soon as they are found.

Early cemetery plots were numbered using the single grave method, in other words, each burial had its own unique plot number. When the switch came to selling lots consisting of space for six burials, these were deemed one lot. The newer section of the cemetery is laid out using the 6 space method. Each space is numbered one to six starting at the left hand side. Walkways, where shown are 3 feet wide. The newer section is proportionally close to actual, as this area was measured and drawn from actual figures. The older section has not been completed yet.
